

THE BLACK FRIDAY PROFIT PLANNER

LEADINGSOCIAL

Five numbers and a 12-week timeline. Fill this in before anyone touches creative or campaigns.

Leighton Penrose
Co-Owner, Leading Social

01 THE FIVE NUMBERS These go on paper first.

01	REVENUE GOAL	What's the Black Friday revenue goal? For the whole campaign, in net sales.	€
02	CUSTOMERS	How many customers do you need to hit it? Write new customers and returning customers as two figures.	new / returning
03	TARGET CAC	What's your target CAC? Count everything that goes into winning the customer: ads, agency fees, creator fees, content.	€
04	BREAK-EVEN POINT	Where's your break-even point? Your gross profit on a first order. A CAC above it means the first order loses money.	€
05	MER FLOOR	What's your MER floor? Total revenue divided by total marketing spend. The lowest you'll accept during the sale.	x

Then check the offer against them. One of our clients did half a million in sales on a sitewide 25% discount with no contribution margin tracked, and the margins were gone by January. Work out the margin per order at the discount you plan to run.

DISCOUNT

%

CONTRIBUTION MARGIN PER ORDER

€

02 THE 12-WEEK TIMELINE The one we run with clients. Write your plan beside each stage.

WHEN	WHAT HAPPENS	YOUR PLAN, OWNER AND DATE
SUMMER AND SEPTEMBER	Lead gen and list building
OCTOBER	Audience warming, offer testing, creative testing LATE SEPTEMBER? START HERE.
EARLY NOVEMBER	VIP early access and exclusive bundles
BLACK FRIDAY WEEK	The main campaign
DECEMBER	Self-purchase messaging

03 WHAT WE TRACK DURING THE WEEK Same as any other sales period.

NET SALES TARGET _____ ACTUAL _____	MER FLOOR _____ ACTUAL _____	NEW AGAINST RETURNING CUSTOMERS TARGET _____ ACTUAL _____	NEW CUSTOMER ACQUISITION COST TARGET _____ ACTUAL _____
--	---	--	--

Throw an eye over ROAS on the platforms, and that's about it. It rarely tells the true story.

For the spend, pull your last five years of data and work from the averages.

